

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A carrier device for a contact image sense optical scanner. The carrier device incorporates a pair of magnets with identical poles facing each other or a fluid filled sealed chamber for exerting an equal pressure on a scanning module within the scanner
5 and maintaining close contact with a document platform throughout a scanning operation.